“What does Colgate University, St. Lawrence University, Emerson College, movie stars, super stars, heads of states, authors, speakers, and top level Colleges & Universities all have in common?”

A man stands in front of your audience at your next event. You watch as his eyes are covered with two coins. Then they are taped to his head with row after row of thick, dark tape. And then a thick blindfold is placed on top of that. There is no way he can see.

He is then handed a bowl stuffed with questions from your audience. Without looking at a single question, this now totally blind man somehow reads the questions and the minds of your audience—and answers them.

Your audience screams, squirms, laughs, and loves this amazing display of the power of the human mind.

The man on stage is Robert Channing. He has performed for Ohio State University, Syracuse University, West Point Military Academy, and over 2000 top colleges & universities, movie stars, super stars, heads of states, authors, speakers, and many more...

What these people and colleges have in common is they all hired Robert Channing to perform for them.

Your event will be the hit of the year and the talk of your campus — GUARANTEED.
